

Hartfield & District Horticultural Society

Affiliated to the Royal Horticultural Society

Situated on the edge of the Ashdown Forest, the village of Hartfield has run a local society for enthusiastic gardeners since 1861. Today, the Hartfield and District Horticultural Society continues to promote an interest in horticulture and aims to encourage more people to grow for pleasure, for the table and for the show bench.

Our main event is the Annual Show on the first Saturday in September, combined with the Village Fete, including classes for vegetables, flowers, flower arranging, cookery, art and craft and children's classes.

Members enjoy discounts at these local nurseries and other establishments
